Glenview Middle School annual report

SOARING TO BE OUR BEST.

“Live as if you were to die tomorrow. Learn as if you were to live forever.”

—Mahatma Gandhi

The MAP tests measure each student’s ability in reading, language usage, and math compared to the national norms. At each grade level, our students were above the national average in every subject area for fall and spring tests. In addition, our scores improved in every area and were above the national growth average in 9 out of 9 areas!

What do I need to know about Common Core State Standards?

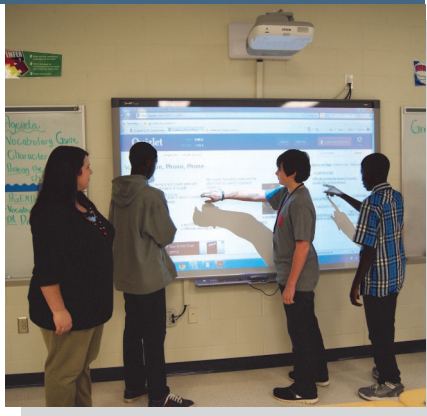

The National PTA published these helpful brochures:

Most states in the U.S. have participated in the development and adoption of these common standards:
www.corestandards.org

Timeline:

2013-2014—Next year is a BRIDGE year meaning PASS will test only those standards that CCSS and the current SC standards have in common.

2014-2015—Full CCSS Implementation... SmarterBalanced assessments replace PASS! smarterbalanced.org

Teachers have participated in off-campus PD offerings and have returned to share what they learned with the faculty:

- ◆ AVID Implementation Training
- ◆ Roger Burns—iPad for the Classroom
- ◆ Robyn Jackson—Connecting Rigor to the Common Core State Standards (CCSS)
- ◆ Sandra Goff—Understanding the Expectations of the Math CCSS
- ◆ Stephanie Harvey—Linking Comprehension Instruction to the CCSS
- ◆ Ruth Culham—Unpacking the Common Core Standards for Writing
- ◆ Upcoming—Two teams will present at the SCASA (South Carolina Association of School Administrators) summer institute on technology integration.

- ◆ Integrating Technology into the learning environment.

"One of the most profound benefits of collaborating with colleagues is found in the sharing of innovative ideas from teachers with a variety of backgrounds and experience."

—Pat Savas

"Working on common assessments as part of our professional learning community has been really beneficial because we can compare and share ideas and strategies when things are working or when they aren't."

—Ben Lawson and Angie Watt

↑ A5 Middle Schools team up to raise money for Anderson Interfaith Ministries in a canned food drive and Faculty Basketball game.

Ways to stay sharp this summer:

- ◆ Read for fun.
- ◆ Practice math skills at:
