Teacher of the year: Erin Doyle

I consider myself lucky to have had the opportunity to begin, and to continue, my teaching career here at Carolina Park Elementary School. As a student teacher walking through the doors four years ago, I was amazed to see students eagerly entering through the front door, full of excitement, because of the engaging lessons and inviting environment that the school provided. Four years later, having worked as a teacher here along the way, I can say that this student experience holds true. Carolina Park is the best school because of its inclusivity of all children, encouragement to strive for excellence, and collaborative efforts to ensure a top notch, quality education for all students.
