SCHOOL DISTRICT

Lexington High School is the largest of four high schools in Lexington County School District One. Lexington School District One has six middle schools, one intermediate school, and fourteen elementary schools as well as the Lexington Technology Center.

SCHOOL

Lexington High School has approximately 2900 students in grades 9-12. With challenging classes and caring teachers, we expect our students to learn. LHS offers a variety of courses to meet the needs of all students. We work together to ensure that students have every opportunity to excel. Some initiatives at LHS include a Senior Project; active Focus Teams in the areas of curriculum, data, professional development, school climate and transitions; Collaborative Planning; and a full-time Graduation Coach.

THE MISSION OF LEXINGTON HIGH SCHOOL

The mission of Lexington High School, where excellence is the standard, is to develop lifelong learners who meet the demands of a global society. In partnership with parents, students, educators and community members, Lexington High School provides curriculum and instruction that encourages both diversity and unity, develops integrity and character, and promotes initiative and collegiality among our students.

SCHOOL YEAR

Lexington High School operates on a 4x4 block schedule, enabling students to earn 8 credits per year. Courses yielding one unit meet 90 minutes per day for 90 days. Courses yielding ½ unit meet 90 minutes per day for 45 days.

GPR AND CLASS RANK

Beginning with school year 2000-2001, South Carolina enacted the Uniform Grading Scale Policy, which requires all public schools to report grades numerically and establishes numerical breaks for letter grades. For purposes of determining Grade Point Ratio (GPR), honors courses receive an extra .5 weighting. Advanced Placement and International Baccalaureate receive an additional 1.0 weighting. GPR's are listed from highest to lowest in the class to determine class rank.

ATTENDANCE

Courses meeting for 180 days require 170 days of attendance. Courses meeting for 90 days require 85 days of attendance. Courses meeting for 45 days require 42 days of attendance.

GRADUATION REQUIREMENTS

Lexington offers a standard diploma program and a certificate program. In addition to earning the units outlined below, a student must also pass the Exit Exam (HSAP) in order to receive a high school diploma.
