WHAT'S NEW?

This school year, we were intentional to celebrate diversity within our school. Some of the ways that we implemented this was by having month long celebrations honoring Hispanic Heritage Month, Black History Month and Women's History Month.

While many activities took place that our student body and teachers could participate in, it was also an opportunity to educate and learn throughout these months. Our entire school was able to participate in events such as daily trivia, poetry contest, book cover contest, hall decorating, book displays, vision boards, dream clouds, music, food, educational opportunities such as the living history museum and much more.

The wealth of knowledge gained from these different cultures and backgrounds was something that our school was able to take pride in and have fun while learning.
